

Contents

PREFACE .....	9
INTRODUCTION .....	11
I. THE MANDATE FOR COMMUNITY WORK IN THE NORDIC WELFARE STATES.....	15
By Gunn Strand Hutchinson
Introduction .....	15
The Nordic welfare model and the role of the professions.....	16
The Nordic welfare model .....	16
Welfare professions within the Nordic model.....	19
The Mandate for community work within social service.....	22
What do I mean by mandate? .....	22
The purposes of the laws for social service .....	23
The understanding of social problems in the Nordic welfare model .....	25
The mandate; to see, to inform, to act and to co-operate ....	27
Exercising the mandate.....	30
Ethics and using the mandate .....	30
Defining the problem – individual and collective level.....	31
Community work responses .....	32
Conclusion.....	35
References.....	36
Acts .....	37
2. NORDIC COMMUNITY WORK IN TRANSITION .....	38
By Päivi Turunen
Community work within the community field.....	40

Nordic community work.....	42
The Nordic transformation – an hourglass phenomenon.....	43
The transformation of Nordic community work in comparison..	46
Toward community social work.....	47
The complicated concept of community and community work ..	49
Knowledge production .....	50
Signs of renewed interest for community work in Scandinavia...	51
Community work within the reflexive modernisation .....	54
New challenges for the next generation of social workers .....	56
References.....	58
Internet .....	61
3. COMMUNITY WORK IN ICELAND .....	64
By Steinunn Hrafnisdóttir and Elisabet Karlsdóttir
Introduction.....	64
Definitions.....	65
Models of community work.....	66
Icelandic perspectives .....	67
Development of community work.....	67
Policy and legislation.....	69
Community work and user participation in Reykjavík welfare services.....	70
Summary and conclusion .....	72
References.....	73
4. COMMUNITY WORK IN DENMARK, A WATERSHED OF POSSIBILITIES.....	75
By Gordon Vincenti
Introduction.....	75
Discussion of community work in Denmark.....	75
Two examples .....	87
The lessons and challenges for community work in Denmark....	90
Conclusion.....	95
References.....	97
Internet .....	97
5. DOES COMMUNITY WORK IN FINLAND BENEFIT CITIZENS OR CLIENTS? .....	98
By Irene Roivainen
Introduction.....	98
Community social work as a source of control and support on the housing estates.....	99

Community work is fragmented into community-based strategies .....	102
Why has community work disappeared from social work?.....	106
From a mobiliser of civil society to a servant of client work? .....	107
The location of the community-based approach as part of municipal social work? .....	110
Conclusions.....	113
Acknowledgements.....	115
References.....	115
 6. EMPOWERING PEOPLE BY COMMUNITY BUILDING .....	 119
By Alf Ronnby
Empowerment .....	121
Community organizing .....	122
Theory of action .....	123
The action's "determiner" .....	125
Leading lights.....	126
Mobilization.....	126
Mobilisation work.....	128
Theories surrounding development in the periphery.....	130
The necessary triangle .....	130
The culture of sparsely-populated areas .....	131
The forces in rural development.....	133
How does mobilisation take place?.....	135
The threat .....	136
Positive prerequisites for mobilisation work.....	136
The group is power .....	137
Practical results .....	139
The future of the new village movement.....	140
Does the new village movement stand for anything new in community building?.....	142
New challenges for social work.....	143
New knowledge is needed .....	143
Conclusion.....	144
What can we learn from the Jämtland example? .....	145
References.....	146
Government publications.....	147

7. COMMUNITY WORK – TWO NORWEGIAN CASES.....	148
By Mary Alice Økland and Kjell Henriksbo
A Norwegian context .....	148
Participation.....	149
A ladder of participation and democracy.....	150
Bare angst (Just anxiety).....	151
Self-help groups.....	152
Self-help organisation .....	153
Discussion .....	154
The local community at Melkeklassen .....	157
Project organising 1993–1995 .....	158
Making contacts and building trust .....	159
Establishing a drop-in centre .....	159
Meetings with the renters/residents .....	160
Organizing of the renters .....	162
Organising a local community.....	162
Residents' claims: We need a community centre! .....	163
Melkeklassen 10 years later .....	164
Discussion .....	165
Closing comment .....	166
References.....	166
8. COMMUNITY WORK: INTEGRATION OR MOBILISATION? .....	168
By Karna Lindén
The welfare model and its values.....	168
A context – and its dilemmas .....	170
Empowerment helps to define community work .....	172
The conflict is also of an ontological kind.....	174
Crossing rationalities – do they hurt?.....	175
Follow me in my own footsteps to a new context .....	177
In Brazil .....	178
It is the same by us as elsewhere.....	179
Latent tensions will be manifest.....	180
References.....	182
AUTHORS.....	183
INDEX.....	186